Annex 2

Brussels, 30 January 2022

Slow play . . . and how to avoid it

(by Peter BAADER on behalf of the EUGC Committee)

- Before starting the round, be ready for the round: pitchfork (!), balls and an extra ball in your pocket for playing a provisional ball, tees, ball marker, golf glove, food, and drink.
- If you are unfamiliar with a course, buying a stroke saver booklet in the pro-shop might be a good idea.
- Always respect the golf etiquette (i. e. know the rules of golf, show up on time, don't talk while others are hitting, don't stand or move behind a player who is about to hit his/her ball, be familiar with the lost-ball-rules, avoid slow-play, switch off your mobile phone, shout FORE if a ball you mishit could endanger other players, obey the cart path rules) !
- Before starting a round, agree within the flight to play "ready golf" (in stroke play/Stableford, i.e., to play a ball first that is closer to the hole than another ball).
- Walk up to your ball as early and as closely as possible (without putting yourself at risk) while other players get ready to execute their strokes. Be ready to play when it is your turn.
- Plan your next stroke even before reaching your ball (distance, club selection, line of play, etc.). Do not lose time putting on your glove only when it is your turn to play. Once ready to play, you have max. 40 seconds to execute your shot!
- Play a provisional ball if you are unsure whether your original ball is lost (outside a penalty area) or out of bounds.
- Two or three practise swings are more than enough!
- Watch the trajectory of other players' balls in your flight to assist them finding them, if needed.

- If you need to search for your ball, remember that you have no more than three minutes from when you reach the area in which your ball might be (look at your watch, also to put other players in your flight 'on the clock'!)
  - If several balls must be found or any other reason prevents your flight from moving forward swiftly, don't forget to wave the flight behind you through.
  - On the green, benefit from the other players' putting when examining your own line of putt.
  - For shortish putts, always ask if you may putt out first instead of marking and lifting your ball. If in match play the hole or your next stroke has been conceded, pick up your ball and move on.
  - Once a hole is completed, move away from the green as swiftly as possible (discuss any issues, fill in the scorecard and rearrange and clean your clubs by the next teeing area).
  - Be aware of relief procedures in order not to lose time by thinking about your options, determining a relief area, and putting a ball back into play (penalty areas, abnormal course conditions, unplayable ball, etc.) - read the rules, watch YouTube on golf rules.

Always remember:
Your position on the course is just behind the flight in front of you,
and not just ahead of the flight following you!

Internal Rules of the European Union Golf Club:

- A flight is out of position:
  - On a par 3, when players are not on the tee box when the previous flight has already left the tee box of the following hole.
  - On a par 4, when players have not left the tee box when the previous flight has already left the green.
  - On a par 5, when players are not on the tee box when the previous flight has already reached the green.

- A maximum time allowed per shot is 40 seconds. The 40 seconds start when it is the player's turn to play, and he has had sufficient time to reach his ball and to be able to play without distraction or interference. On the green, the timing will start when the player has had a reasonable amount of time to lift, clean and replace his ball, repair ball marks and clear loose impediments on his Line of put. Time spent looking at the line in preparation of the putt counts as part of time taken for the next shot. The marker should verify that this rule is observed.
  - On average, a flight of 2 players should be allowed 3h36' (average 12' per hole), a flight of 3 players 4h12' (average 14' per hole) and a flight of 4 players 4h30' (average 15' per hole) to complete a round of 18 holes. A flight is considered out of time if after appropriate assessment of mitigating circumstances by the committee the flight has exceeded the max. time indicated.
  - All players are obliged to mark the time when he/she left the 18th green. Thereby the committee will be able to establish when and where slow play begun when reviewing and registering the scores.
  - The committee may impose, once the competition is completed but not yet encoded, the following penalties for slow play in accordance with the Rules of Golf:
    1. First transgression of max. time: warning
    2. Second transgression of max. time: 1 penalty stroke
    3. Third transgression of max. time: 2 more penalty strokes
    4. Fourth excess of max. time: disqualification
  - If the committee cannot identify the responsible player, the penalties will be applicable to all players of the flight causing the delay.
  - Players declared "out of time" will not be able to receive any prizes or points in the context of individual competitions or series of competitions i. e., Astérisque, Winter Cup, etc. Their scores, however, remain valid vis-à-vis the Royal Belgian Golf Federation.
